

Article 8

No one shall be deprived of life except on such grounds as are established by law and are consistent with the principles of fundamental justice.