

Article 8

- (1) The Constitution recognises the right to life and fully protects it in its different phases.
- (2) All persons have the right to physical and moral integrity. No one shall be subjected to torture or to cruel, inhuman or degrading treatment or punishment.
- (3) The death penalty is prohibited.