IRAN: DETAILS OF 304 DEATHS IN CRACKDOWN ON NOVEMBER 2019 PROTESTS

This document contains the details of 304 men, women and children documented by Amnesty International as having been killed by Iran's security forces during their crackdown on mass protests that erupted across Iran between 15 and 19 November 2019, following the government's announcement about the significant overnight rise in the price of fuel.

The organization has found the security forces' use of lethal force against the vast majority of those killed to be unlawful. In almost all protests that took place between 15 and 19 November, there is no evidence that people were in possession of firearms or that they posed an imminent threat to life that would have warranted the use of lethal force, according to extensive research, including video analysis, conducted by Amnesty International. The organization is aware of two exceptions in one city on 18 November where gunfire was exchanged between a number of protesters and security forces.

Amnesty International has found that more than 220 of the recorded deaths resulted from incidents that took place over just two days on 16 and 17 November.

Six months on from the protests, the devastated families of victims continue their struggle for truth and justice while facing intense harassment and intimidation from the authorities.

Meanwhile, the authorities persist in their refusal to reveal the truth about the death toll; conduct thorough, independent and impartial criminal investigations; and bring to justice those responsible for ordering and carrying out these killings, which compounds the pain of victims' relatives. In fact, the authorities have orchestrated a ruthless campaign to intimidate families and prevent them from speaking out, further entrenching impunity.

Given the gravity of the human rights violations perpetrated and the systematic impunity prevailing in Iran, Amnesty International has reiterated its call to member states of the UN Human Rights Council to mandate an inquiry into the killings, and identify pathways for truth, justice, reparations, and guarantees of non-repetition.

METHODOLOGY

In the context of its ongoing investigation into the deadly repression of protests in November 2019, Amnesty International has researched cases of protesters and bystanders who were killed by security forces.

To date, based on information obtained from credible sources, Amnesty International has recorded 304 deaths resulting from the use of lethal force by security forces.

In 127 of those cases, Amnesty International spoke directly to primary sources impacted by the deaths, including relatives, neighbours, friends, acquaintances, and eyewitnesses. In 128 other cases, it documented the deaths primarily based on information received from human rights activists and journalists based in or outside Iran. In 34 of them, it did so based on information from medical staff working in facilities to which the dead and injured were brought. It documented the remaining 15 cases primarily based on the examination of videos that were broadcast by the Islamic Republic of Iran Broadcasting (IRIB) corporation in relation to the protests of November 2019 and included interviews with the families of those killed. With respect to some of these 15 cases, complementary information concerning the victim's name, age and circumstances of death were received from independent human rights activists and journalists.

In order to ascertain the credibility of the information received from human rights activists and journalists, Amnesty International interviewed them about their sources of information, which typically included relatives, neighbours, friends, acquaintances and eyewitnesses. Similarly, for cases reported by medical staff, the organization interviewed the source to ascertain their reliability and the degree of their involvement in the system of recording deaths in their particular medical institution or their access to those records.

For each recorded case, Amnesty International conducted internet searches and, where it was able to locate media articles or social media posts on the victim concerned, compared the information available online with the information received directly from primary or secondary sources.

As part of its process of crosschecking and corroboration, Amnesty International also obtained the funeral posters of 116 victims and pictures of the gravestones or grave sites of 82 victims. For 24 of the victims, in addition to obtaining their funeral posters and/or the pictures of their gravestones, Amnesty International was also able to obtain death and/or burial certificates recording the date, place and cause of their death. Death and burial certificates in Iran record the dates of birth and death, as well as the cause of death. The dates of birth and death recorded on the gravestone of the deceased are generally identical to the information recorded in their death and burial certificates. Families are not authorized to bury their loved ones or erect gravestones until a burial certificate has been issued by the Legal Medicine Organization of Iran, a state forensic institute working under the supervision of the judiciary. Pictures of gravesites obtained generally showed the burial ground before the erection of a gravestone over it. In many cases, a memorial poster containing the name and photograph of the deceased was seen laid on the ground and, in some cases, there was a small board on the grave site recording the name of the deceased and their date of death.

Throughout the research process, Amnesty International took strict measures to prevent double counting and updated its entries after new verified information was received. These involved crosschecking the cases of reported deaths according to time, location and other unique identifiers, and eliminating those that could potentially refer to the same person.

With respect to 233 of the 304 deaths, Amnesty International has identified the first and last names of the victim. In the case of six other deaths, it has identified the victim's first or last name only.

In the remaining 65 cases, the names of the victims are still unknown to Amnesty International. Over half of these (35) are from the cities of Shahriar or Malard in Tehran province, one of the provinces with the highest death tolls in the country. Of these 35 cases, 34 were reported to Amnesty International by medical staff in one of the main hospitals in the area, which received a large number of dead bodies between 16 and 18 November 2019. The remaining case from Malard was reported by state media without referring to the name of the victim. Twelve are from the city of Kermanshah in Kermanshah province, another area with a high death toll. These 12 cases were reported by a number of activists and a local journalist affiliated with state-media outlets, who had accessed information compiled by local officials on the number of deaths in the city of Kermanshah. The remaining 18 cases are from the following areas: Baharestan, Tehran province (3); Malekshahr, Esfahan province (1); Mahshahr, Khuzestan province (1); Sadra, Fars province (4); Chardangeh, Tehran province (2); Fardis, Alborz province (1); Javanroud, Kermanshah province (1); Robatkarim, Tehran province (3); Sirjan, Kerman province (1); and Shiraz, Fars province (1). Two of these cases were reported by state media without referring to the names of the victims; 11 were reported by reliable local activists involved in community-level research; and the remaining five were identified through interviews with eyewitnesses who said they had seen a certain number of individuals being killed in front of them but did not know the victims by name.

As part of its ongoing investigation into the unlawful use of lethal force during the protests, Amnesty International has also analysed extensive video footage, verified by its Digital Verification Corps, which showed Iranian security forces using firearms against unarmed protesters and bystanders.

In order to trace the development of official narratives denying and distorting the scale, causes and circumstances of the killings, Amnesty International also regularly monitored state-affiliated media outlets in Iran, and analysed statements made by top state officials including the Supreme Leader, Ali Khamenei; the president, Hassan Rouhani; the minister of interior, Abdolreza Rahmani Fazli; and the secretary general of the Supreme National Security Council, Ali Shamkhani.

Amnesty International believes that the real number of deaths is higher than the figure of 304 documented. The organization is aware of scores of additional cases that have been reported, but has assessed that it does not yet have sufficient reliable details to include them in its figure. The lack of access to information is due, in large part, to the climate of intense fear created by the authorities, which has resulted in fewer families and other informed individuals being willing to speak out.

Intelligence and security officials in Iran have embarked on a campaign of harassment and intimidation of the families of those killed during the protests to prevent them from talking openly about their deaths. Many families interviewed by Amnesty International have reported being forced to sign undertakings that they would not speak to the media and would observe restrictions on how they commemorate their loved ones in order to be able to receive their bodies. In almost all cases recorded by Amnesty International, security and intelligence officials attended the funeral and memorial ceremonies of the victims apparently to ensure that the restrictions were observed in what constitutes a clear form of intimidation to the families of the victims.

SEX AND AGE OF VICTIMS

Of the 304 individuals on whose deaths Amnesty International has obtained detailed information, 236 were identified as adult men and 10 as adult women. In addition, the organization documented 23 cases of children who were killed; 22 were boys, aged between 12 and 17, and one was a girl reportedly aged between eight and 12.¹

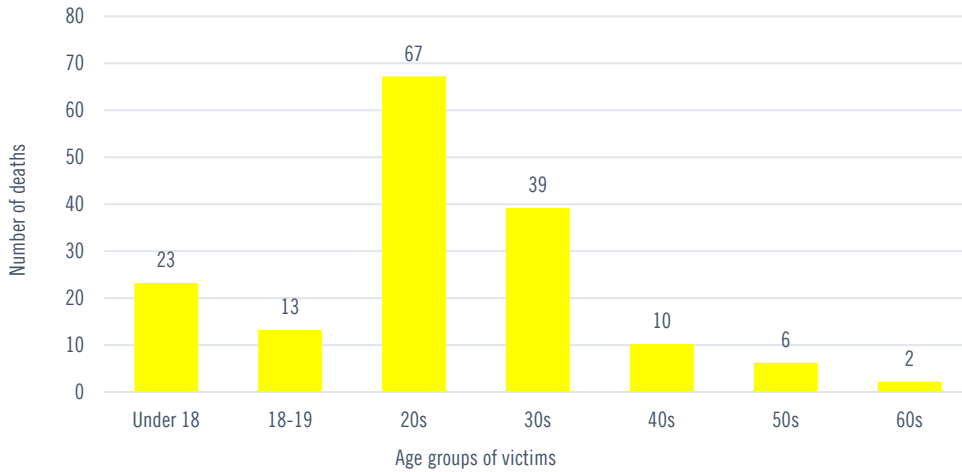

The number of children killed is very likely to be higher. Amnesty International has received information from human rights activists about at least four young male victims indicating that they may have been under the age of the 18 at the time of their deaths.²

In 35 cases, the sex and age of those killed remain unknown to Amnesty International.

² Currently, due to lack of sufficient information, these young victims are included in the figure of 236 men, but in the list of victims below, Amnesty International has indicated that they may have been possibly under 18 years of age. The names of these four possible child victims are Mohsen Albouali (No. 169); Reza Neisy (No. 206); Ahmad Sa'di (Jaaveleh) (No. 220); and Ali Hosseini, also known as Ali Hamedani (No. 217).

Number of deaths recorded per age group

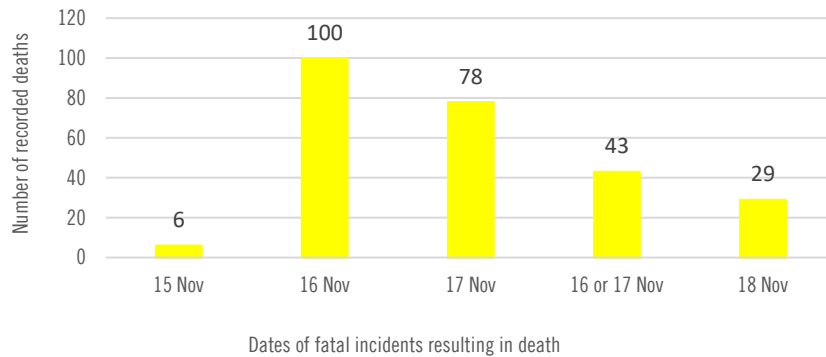

For 161 victims, Amnesty International was able to obtain information about their exact or approximate age. Based on this information, the majority of the recorded victims, at least 42%, were in their twenties and 24% percent were in their thirties.

TIME FRAME OF KILLINGS

Of the 304 deaths, Amnesty International concluded that at least six resulted from fatal incidents that took place on 15 November, the first day of the protests; 100 on 16 November; 78 on 17 November; and 29 on 18 November. In 43 additional cases, Amnesty International has recorded 16 or 17 November as the date of the fatal incident resulting in death, but has not been able to ascertain the exact day. In the remaining 48 cases, the organization has not been able to identify the date of the incident resulting in death, but believes the vast majority also took place on the second and third days of the protests, that is on 16 and 17 November.

Breakdown of deaths by date

GEOGRAPHIC SPREAD OF KILLINGS

Amnesty International recorded the 304 victims as having been killed in 37 cities in eight provinces across the country (Alborz, Esfahan, Fars, Kerman, Kermanshah, Khuzestan, Kurdistan and Tehran), reflecting the widespread nature of the crackdown. The poverty-stricken suburbs around the capital, Tehran, suffered most, with at least 163 deaths recorded there.³ The minority-populated provinces of Khuzestan and Kermanshah, with 57 and 30 deaths respectively, were also badly affected.

Below is a breakdown, by province, of the deaths of protesters and bystanders recorded so far by Amnesty International:

Province	Number of individuals killed
Tehran	130
Khuzestan	57
Alborz	33
Kermanshah	30
Fars	24
Esfahan	21
Kurdistan	7
Kerman	2
Total	304

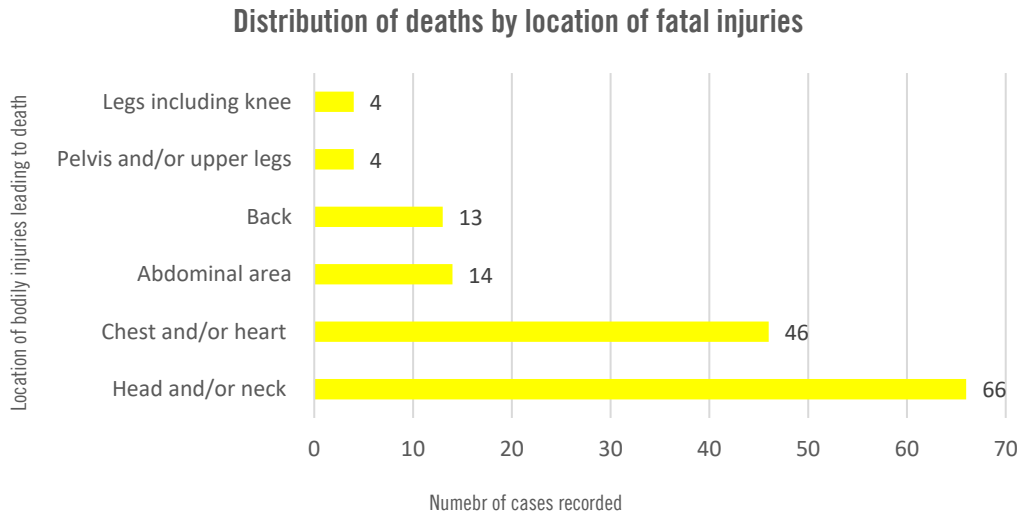

CAUSES AND CIRCUMSTANCES OF KILLINGS

Some of the recorded victims were participating in the protests while others were bystanders, but it is not possible for Amnesty International to ascertain to which category each victim belonged.

In all but four cases, the victims were shot dead by Iranian security forces including members of the Revolutionary Guards, paramilitary Basij forces and the police. Amnesty International was able to examine evidence of security forces firing live ammunition, often at the head or torso – indicating that they were shooting to kill. According to information received from eyewitnesses and relatives, some victims were shot multiple times in different areas of their bodies, including head, chest, stomach, arms and legs, and some were shot in their back.

For nearly half of the victims (141), Amnesty International has been able to obtain information indicating the reported location of fatal injuries. The findings reveal that in at least 66 cases, victims were shot in their head and/or neck and in at least 46 cases, in their chest and/or heart. The following chart illustrates the breakdown of the locations of fatal injuries recorded.⁴

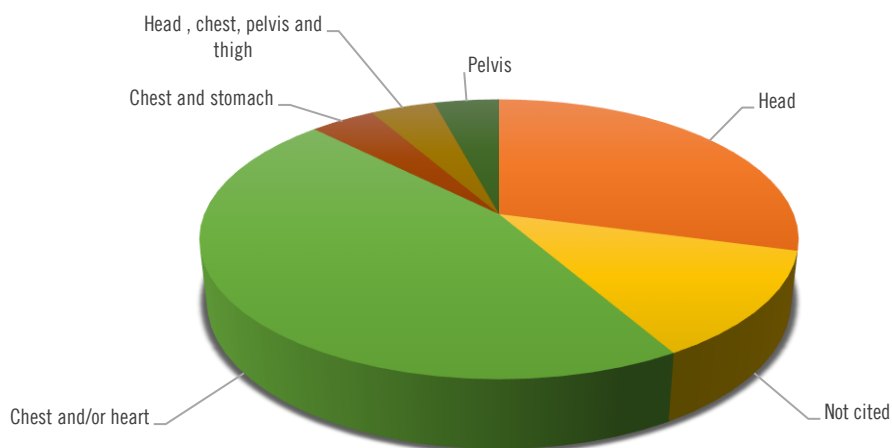

With respect to the four remaining victims mentioned above, two, Faramarz Pourfarsadi (adult) and Mohsen Mohammadpour (child), reportedly suffered fatal head injuries after being beaten by members of the security forces. Another two victims, Yadollah Hajitaripour (adult) and Ziba Khoshgavar (adult), died after reportedly suffocating from tear gas.

Information obtained from eyewitnesses that, in most cases, security forces were deliberately firing live ammunition at victims' head or torso is supported by the description of injuries cited on the death or burial certificates obtained by Amnesty International for 24 victims shot dead. In the cases of seven victims, the official certificates state that they were fatally injured in the head; in 11 cases in the chest and/or heart; in one case in the chest and stomach; in one case in the chest, head, pelvis and thigh; and in one case in the hips. In the remaining three cases, the certificates do not provide any information on where in their body the victims were fatally injured.

Location of bodily injuries as cited in victims' death or burial certificates

The analysis of the death and burial certificates obtained by Amnesty International also raises concerns about the incomplete recording of the cause of death in some cases. For 16 of the 24 victims, the death and/or burial certificates record that the death occurred as a result of “bullet penetration”, but, in the remaining eight cases, they state that the victim was “hit” by a “hard or sharp object”, a “fast-moving object” or a “penetrative object” or use similarly vague phrases to describe the cause of injuries leading to death.

STATE DENIALS AND COVER-UP

Six months after the killings, Iranian authorities have still not issued an official death toll nor have launched credible investigations into the circumstances surrounding these deaths. Several officials have claimed this is due to the time-consuming process of categorizing the victims based on their level of involvement in the protests. Based on this classification, the authorities would determine whether to designate a victim as a “martyr” and grant their family financial compensation and other benefits.⁵

The authorities have defined three categories of victims: people referred to as “ordinary citizens”, who did not have any role in the protests and “lost their lives amid the clashes”; those who “lost their lives in any manner” while participating in the protests peacefully; and those who were killed while engaging in armed clashes with the security forces.

The Iranian authorities have developed a two-fold strategy for denying or distorting the truth surrounding the mass protest killings.

On the one hand, they have justified the use of lethal force to prevent damage to public property.⁶ While in some instances documented by Amnesty International, some protesters engaged in acts of arson or damage to banks, police stations and seminaries, this did not justify a lethal response to protesters who were not posing an imminent threat to the lives of members of security forces or others.

On the other hand, officials have repeatedly made false statements and produced numerous propaganda videos on state TV saying most of the victims in the first and second categories, described above, were killed by armed “rioters” or “suspicious agents” working for “enemies” of the Islamic Republic of Iran. To back up these allegations, they have further claimed that the weapons used to kill the victims were not of the type used by security forces. For example, on 12 December 2019, the secretary general of Iran’s Supreme National Security Council, Ali Shamkhani, said in a media interview that “more than 85% of the victims of the recent incidents in Tehran province had not attended any protest and were killed in a suspicious manner with firearms and [other] weapons not belonging to state organs.” He added that “this proves that Iran’s enemies were involved in a killing project.”⁷

In a similar vein, President Hassan Rouhani stated on 4 December 2019 that “it has been made clear by the Legal Medicine Organization which kinds of bullets were used. These bullets have been identified and they do not belong to the police, Revolutionary Guards or the Basij.”⁸

However, extensive video footage analysed by Amnesty International’s Digital Verification Corps and numerous eyewitness accounts obtained by the organization provide clear evidence that those using firearms against protesters and bystanders belonged to Iran’s security forces, including the Revolutionary Guards, paramilitary Basij forces and police.

Amnesty International has documented only two protests, both in Mahshahr, Khuzestan province, that involved gunfire being exchanged between several armed protesters and security forces, resulting in the death of one Revolutionary Guard official and one police officer. These took place in the neighbourhood of Chamran (also known as Jarrahi) on 18 November and the neighbourhood of Taleghani (also known as Koureh) on 18 November and lasting into the early hours of 19 November.

Even during these two incidents, based on the testimonies of surviving protesters and video footage analysed by Amnesty International, the security forces did not confine their use of lethal force to those posing an imminent threat to life as there is evidence that they also shot at unarmed protesters who were posing no threat whatsoever, killing several people.

Amnesty International has found that the families of those killed in protests were consistently excluded from official autopsies undertaken by the Legal Medicine Organization of Iran for the purpose of issuing burial certificates, and they were not provided with autopsy records detailing the types of weapon and ammunition that led to their deaths. International also consistently reported that they were prevented from seeking an independent autopsy and forced to bury their loved ones quickly in the presence of security and intelligence officials.

In the cases of at least two victims documented by Amnesty International, brothers Mostafa and Mehdi Roodbarian, eyewitnesses believe the victims were killed during the protests but the authorities have so far refused to provide their family with any information about their fate or whereabouts or to return their bodies.

In several other cases, the authorities have refused to hand over the belongings of the victims to their relatives, including their phones, raising suspicions that these might have contained evidence of unlawful actions by state agents.

The abuses committed by Iranian authorities outlined above form part of a wider pattern of actions taken by state officials against families of those killed in the November protests and appear aimed at suppressing incriminating evidence by concealing information and instilling fear among the victims' relatives.

In yet another attempt to deflect criticism over the killings in the November 2019 protests, Iranian officials, including Iran's minister of interior, have claimed that the number of members of the police, Basij and security and intelligence forces who were killed or injured during the protests was twice the equivalent figure for protesters.

However, this does not correspond with information published in state media outlets. Based on these sources, Amnesty International has calculated that a total of five members of the security forces were killed during the protests.⁹ Two – one Revolutionary Guard official¹⁰ and one police officer¹¹ – were killed in protests in Mahshahr, Khuzestan province, as mentioned above; two – one Revolutionary Guard official¹² and one member of the Basij force¹³ – were reportedly stabbed to death in Malard, Tehran province; and one was a police officer reportedly stabbed to death in Kermanshah, Kermanshah province.¹⁴

The authorities have alleged that an additional member of the Basij force, Majid Sheikhi, was shot in Eslamshahr, Tehran province, on 17 November. However, in a media interview with Iran International, a Persian-language TV outlet based in the UK and widely watched in Iran, a relative of the victim said that Majid Sheikhi was a protester and that the authorities had pressured his family to agree for him to be falsely described as a member of the Basij force in order to collect his body.

The relative said in the interview that the picture of the victim published by state-media outlets had been altered to show him dressed in a military uniform.¹⁵ Two experts in audio-visual products consulted by Amnesty International said the picture concerned does indeed bear marks consistent with manipulation using image-editing software.

INTERNATIONAL LAW AND STANDARDS

The right not to be arbitrarily deprived of life is a fundamental and universally recognized right, protected in Article 6 of the International Covenant on Civil and Political Rights, to which Iran is a state party, among other provisions.

Police and security forces have a paramount duty to respect and protect the right to life. To this end, the UN Basic Principles on the Use of Force and Firearms provide that law enforcement officials shall not use firearms against persons except in self-defence or the defence of others against the imminent threat of death or serious injury, and that, in any event, “intentional lethal use of firearms may only be made when strictly unavoidable in order to protect life.”¹⁶ Furthermore, relevant international standards require that law enforcement officials only resort to force of any kind when there are no other means available that are likely to achieve the legitimate objective.¹⁷ If use of force is unavoidable, it must be to the extent that is strictly necessary and proportionate to achieve the legitimate objective, and law enforcement must use it in a manner designed to minimise damage or injury, must respect and preserve human life and ensure medical aid is provided as soon as possible to those injured or affected.¹⁸

The duty to investigate potentially unlawful deaths is an essential part of upholding the right to life.¹⁹ According to the UN Minnesota Protocol on the Investigation of Potentially Unlawful Death, “investigations must, at a minimum, take all reasonable steps to: a) identify the victims; b) recover and preserve all material probative of the cause of death, the identity of perpetrators and the circumstances surrounding death; c) identify possible witnesses and obtain their evidence in relation to the death and the circumstances surrounding the death; d) determine the cause, manner, place and time of death, and all of the surrounding circumstances; and e) determine who was involved in the death and their individual responsibility for the death.”²⁰

RECOMMENDATIONS

In line with the findings outlined above, Amnesty International is calling on the Iranian authorities to take the following actions:

- Make public all available information and records regarding the number of those killed during the November 2019 protests; their identities and ages; and the location, cause and circumstances of their deaths.
- Ensure that prompt, thorough, independent and impartial criminal investigations are conducted into the killings of protesters and bystanders, including children, in the November 2019 protests and that those suspected of criminal responsibility are prosecuted in proceedings that conform to international fair trial standards and do not involve seeking or imposing the death penalty.
- Protect the families of victims and others seeking truth, justice and reparations on behalf of the victims against threats, harassment, intimidation, arbitrary arrests and detentions, and other reprisals by state authorities or other actors.

As the Iranian authorities are refusing to open independent, impartial and effective investigations, Amnesty International calls on member states of the UN Human Rights Council to take the following actions:

- Mandate an inquiry into the killings of protesters and bystanders in the November 2019 protests. The inquiry should report on its findings to the Human Rights Council, and its report should include recommendations on how to ensure Iran upholds its human rights obligations, including in the context of the protests and their aftermath, and on bringing those responsible for serious human rights violations to justice in fair trials.
- Call on Iran to give full and unrestricted access to those conducting this inquiry, as well as to UN officials, including special procedures mandates.
